The Golden Ticket 2013

More than 300 works of art were submitted for this year's Golden Ticket exhibition at Clifton Cultural Arts Center (CCAC). The exhibition, now in its fourth year, is limited to artists working or living within 25 miles of CCAC and showcases our region's diverse creative talent. This year's pres-

CCAC Celebrates Five

Five years ago, equipped with a big dream and a dedicated community, Clifton Cultural Arts Center opened its doors. Now, 60 months and 79,000 visitors later, CCAC is a bustling hub of artistic endeavors, inspiring stories, and neighbors connecting. We have just one thing to say: THANK YOU!

We wouldn't dream of celebrating without you beside us! Please join us for the culmination of our Five Year Anniversary festivities on Saturday, September 7, from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Come see the unveiling of a new public art display and join in the activites for kids and adults. See our website for details: www.cliftonculturalarts.org.

Clifton Town Meeting is your local community council, sponsoring many activities and festivals throughout the year, including: Memorial Day Parade, Lantern Walk, Streetscapes, the House Tour, Holidays on Ludlow, and more. We also partner with the Business Community to keep the new Clifton Plaza operating, and provide funding for beautification projects and communications, including the community listserve, website and the Clifton Chronicle. We also advocate on behalf of the Clifton community. Issues we have worked on in the past year include our local grocery store, parking around Cincinnati State, new welcome to Clifton street signs, and the City of Cincinnati's parking plan.

We hope you will consider joining CTM or renewing your membership to help us keep Clifton a vibrant, desirable, and fun place to live, work, and play. Also please visit CTM's website at www.cliftoncommunity. org to learn more about what is happening in Clifton and CTM.

Try CHIP-It Works!

By Malcolm Montgomery, Hosea Avenue

When I first heard about CHIP at one of the regular monthly Clifton Town Meeting, it piqued my interest because, despite my good intentions, I had not succeeded in getting back into shape on my own. I am delighted with the program because it really works: in six weeks, I lost more than 15 pounds, my blood pressure fell from the pre-hypertensive to normal range, blood sugar dropped from pre-diabetic to normal, and my cholesterol, which had been good, got even better. What's more, I feel I'm back in shape: more energy, stamina, flexibility and strength. I used to suffer from debilitating muscle spasms in my lower back; they've ceased completely. Amazingly, these results were easy to achieve and maintain. I attribute my success to the excellence of the CHIP program.

CHIP, an acronym for Comprehensive Health Improvement Program, is a creation of The Seventh-Day Adventist Church, whose adherents are known for their superior health and longevity. In addition to the public version sponsored by the Clifton church, there is a corporate wellness program adopted by nearby well-respected Christ Hospital. CHIP integrates diet, exercise, and stress reduction in an educational, supportive and motivational program. Though developed and sponsored by the Adventists, the approach is neither religious nor proselytizing.

I signed up for CHIP thinking that it would be worthwhile if it would just make it easier to get back into shape through a structured exercise regimen. I tend to be skeptical about weight-loss plans and the like, yet this one appealed to me because it was credible, comprehensive and convenient. The supporting materials are informative and authoritative, and the meetings inclusive and motivating. Each meeting, Jeba Moses (the church pastor) plays DVD clips of health research findings by well-respected medical authorities, and then facilitates discussion with lightness and humor. Graduates from previous class cycles prepare and serve recipes from an included cookbook. The Clifton Avenue church is conveniently located within walking distance of my home.

And here's a great bonus: free monthly meetings for alumni to enjoy a shared healthy meal and support each other against the vestigial temptations from years of deeply ingrained bad habits. (Just the thing for a backslider like me!)

The CHIP second information session will be on Thursday, September. 5 at 6 p.m., at the Community Hall of Clifton Adventist Church (3800 Clifton Avenue). (The first info session will be on Aug. 25, same time and place as above). Folk may also go to www.chiphealth. com to learn more. The classes begin on Sunday, September 22.

Cincinnati State News

Cincinnati State is adding German, Mandarin Chinese and Conversational French to its lineup of foreign language offerings, beginning with the 2013 Fall Semester. The courses—which may be taken by non- degree seeking students on a standalone basis—are designed with business and vacation travelers in mind. The language courses are part of a larger push by Cincinnati State to better publicize its Humanities and Sciences programs, which primarily serve students who intend eventually to pursue a bachelor's degree. Many of the H&S courses carry an assurance that credits earned at Cincinnati State will transfer to any other public college or university in Ohio.

The Constella Festival of Music and Fine Arts announces a superlative artist and program lineup to launch Cincinnati's 2013-14 classical music season. Running from October 1 to November 7, the festival includes the return of violin superstar Joshua Bell and first-ever Constella Festival appearance by the Grammy Award-winning conductor Paavo Jarvi.

Like its predecessors, Constella Festival 3 will present a stunning roster of international soloists to draw attention and help build audiences for the broad palette of professional chamber music and other arts organizations that enrich Cincinnati's cultural landscape.

Constella will present 20 concerts at 15 Cincinnati venues including world-premiere music and dance works, children's concerts, workshops and masterclasses. Most Constella-produced events will feature art exhibitions and collaborations by prominent Cincinnati artists and art galleries, including the Cincinnati Art Museum, Carl Solway Gallery and Brazee Street Studios.

Constella Festival Founder and Artistic Director, Tatiana Berman, explains, "Every concert is an event and an adventure. People who have never been to a classical music concert enjoy our events as much as veteran chamber music, jazz and art lovers. Our more intimate venues, small world-class ensembles, many world premieres, and unique music and art combinations create an exceptional social experience. In just one month, audiences can discover the range of chamber music and other arts here, then enjoy their favorite discoveries throughout the coming year."

Berman launched the Constella Festival in 2011 to draw audiences not only from around Cincinnati, but from other cities and regions. Over time, other similar U.S. festivals have grown to generate $30-$55 million in total economic impact through ticket, hotel, restaurant, store, gallery and museum sales.

New Education Initiative. In Fall 2013, the Constella Festival will launch an innovative music education initiative aimed primarily at underserved population segments, performing 30 or more events at schools, retirement communities and churches.

"By presenting engaging music events, we will, in our small way, help to supplement school music programs that have been reduced by cuts in government funding," said Berman.

Tickets for all Constella-produced events are available only through the Cincinnati Arts Association at www. cincinnatiartis.org or 513-621-2787.

Clifton Youth Take to the Water

Congratulations to Clifton youth for their summer 2013 accomplishments on and in the water.

On July 6th, the Cincinnati Jr. Rowing Club won both the boys and girls' eights at the Independence Day Regatta on the Schuylkill River in Philadelphia. The above photo is of the boy's eight leading the race. CJRC is open to all high school age students, contact Greg Hull (greg.hull@gmail.com) if interested.

Keeping Utility Poles Out of the Front Lawn

In April, CTM learned that part of the City's plan to resurface Woolper Avenue included widening the road by one foot, removing grass strips on both sides of the road, and moving the utility poles from the curb into people's yards. We asked the City Engineering department to explain why they wanted to do this. They said that current regulations require that utility poles be further from the street than the current location of the poles. The City has an easement on the first foot of each home's lawn such that they have the right to relocate the poles there. But who wants a utility pole in their yard?

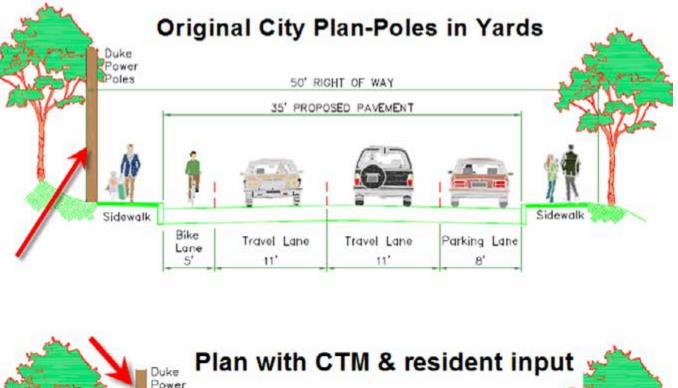

At the May CTM meeting, CTM

started to give the city input from Woolper residents who did not want the poles in their yards. The City agreed to a compromise that would leave the utility poles in their current locations by the curb. A 5 foot wide bicycle lane on the North (uphill) side of the road would provide the required buffer between automobile traffic and utility poles.

The traffic lanes would be reduced to 11 feet (greater than the 10.5 foot minimum). Studies have shown that narrower lanes tend to cause cars to slow down. The parking lane would be reduced from 10 feet to the common parking lane width of 8 feet. The grass strips would be retained.

A trustee, Bruce Bernard, canvassed the street's residents to gather their input to this proposal. He was able to reach almost half the 50+ residents. Twenty-two of 24 residents said they preferred the City's alternate proposal, and the other two were indifferent. Given this information, CTM passed a resolution requesting that the City change their plans, and the City has agreed.

At the August 5 CTM Meeting, the proposal was modified to increase the parking lane from 8 feet to 8.5 feet by removing the grass strip by the parking lane.

Memorial Day Parade and Picnic Kicked Off Summer 2013

The Parade had excellent weather for the walk to Mount Storm as the band played Art Funk's "Climbing to Mt. Storm".

Tom Dwyer, Ed Horgan, Tony Sizemore, Mike Elovitz, Ashley Fritz, Pat Knapp, Eric Urbas, Ben Pantoja, Linda Ash, Ngozi Ndulue and Adam Balz, ringleader, worked hard and long to make the picnic a success.

Clifton Town Meeting

May 6th, 7:00 pm Clifton Recreation Center

Present: Linda Ash, Adam Balz, Bruce Bernard, Brian Curwin, Tom Dwyer, Ashley Fritz, Kevin Marsh, Mike Moran, Ben Pantoja, Joyce Rich, Morgan Rich, Tony Sizemore, Eric Urbas

Absent: Buddy Goose, Pat Knapp

Police Report

Lisa Johnson reported that Clifton Hills residents observed a male looking at properties. The man said he was cutting through, but there is no cut through. She said when suspicious activities are seen to call 765-1212, the non-emergency dispatch. Officer Johnson reported that auto thefts are up but all other crime is down. Lock your car doors and don't leave valuables. Deer cameras will be put up where there is graffiti. She is till working on location set-up. Officer Johnson said that letters are being drafted to owners of cars with suspicious activity to let them know they appear suspicious, or someone using their car is suspicious.

CRC Update

CRC's Tom Reece reported that the summer day camp has 4 spaces left. They are finishing up interviews for seasonal staff. Construction of the recreation center will begin in October, not August. Before and after care will be held at Fairview during construction. The capacity for the program will stay the same while at Fairview. The CRC encouraged everyone support the Art Ambassador Fellowships. The artists will be presented at Memorial Hall on May 8 and at the CCAC on May 15. All councilmembers will be present at Memorial Hall. Tom encouraged everyone to attend, and invite their friends. Kids' murals will be on display in late May at Sitwell's.

Approval of April Minutes

The minutes were approved. Final Recommendation from Committee to Renovate Probasco Fountain Dick Druffel presented that the group was formed to restore and improve public access to the fountain. Two community input sessions were held. Input was received from the community for possible site locations. The committee then asked people to pick among the top sites.

Site A is keeping the fountain in its current location.

Site B is moving it 7" in from the street and 2" north.

Site C is moving it to the corner of Clifton and McAlpin.

The front lawn of the CCAC (Site B) and the fountain's current site were the most popular. There were a number of concerns about locations. One concern was the water main and how it would impact moving the fountain. Dick reported that it is a bypass main and is only used when they are working on the main water main. So it is not an active water main. There is no barrier to the fountain in its current or other possible locations. The committee asked the city they would grant an easement if fountain were moved, and were told this would not be a problem. The next concern was trees. Site B would impact one tree, but it is not in good shape and was already recommended by a different study to be removed. The oak tree near Site B is in very good shape and the arborist from the zoo felt if the fountain were moved to Site B, it would not hurt the oak tree. Site C would require 2 trees be removed. Dick reported that the Ohio Historical Society weighed in that they would like the fountain to stay in its current location but that it would not lose its historic significance if it were moved. If the fountain is moved there were concerns that building a new base would be expensive. A structural engineer came out and felt a new base could be put at either of the 2 locations for less than $10,000. If the water main were to be moved it would be no more than $10,000. None of the concerns had a negative impact on the fountain renovation.

What's important from the community, 1. Relation to fountains historic location

2. Visibility for pedestrians and motorists

3. Relationship with the street

4. Accessibility to all sides of the fountain

5. Safety for users: traffic

The committee felt people want it close to the street.

The committee's final recommendation: Relocate the fountain to Site B, approximately 7 feet west and 2 feet north of the current location. Site B could also be moved a little more north to further reduce impact on the oak tree. A resolution was drafted to CTM that they would like to relocate the fountain 7 ft. west and 2 ft. north. There were renderings to show its possible future location in relation to its current location. The CCAC passed a resolution supporting either of the sites. CPS also said either of the sites would be okay. Ben asked if moving the fountain would improve the water flow. Dick said yes. An audience member wanted to know the cost of moving the fountain and how it will be handled. Joel Koopman from the city said there is a $400,000 budget for the fountain and that relocating the fountain should not be an issue. He also said that the fountain is a safety risk for workers in its current location. An audience member said she believes the fountain will be more dangerous for children if moved because they would be able to run around it. Mark McCellup, and architect from the city, said there will be a sidewalk and a rail of some kind and that the design is still being worked on. It was asked if anyone researched the title to see if there is a restriction on the fountain. Dick said it is a city monument and there is no legal document that would pose any restrictions. It was asked if the committee will have a say in the final design. Dick said yes and that the members would like to continue working on the committee, and he foresees the committee and city working together on the designs. Voting on resolution. Kevin Marsh wanted to change the language of the resolution to say it must improve accessibility and safety of the fountain. Bruce said this can't be enforced. Dick said they are asking CTM for the committee to continue working with the city on the project. There was a motion to amend the resolution to add a bullet point #4: That CTM expects to be involved in the ongoing design. Because it is a budget issue, Dick requested that CTM share its support of the project with the city. CTM and Fountain Committee members plan to contact the Mayor, city manager, and city council members both in writing and with follow up visits.

CTM voted in favor of this issue.

CliftonFest

Jan Checco wants a request of CTM to match the CPBA's sponsorship, $7,800. Meetings will be held at Olives at 7 May 9, June 13, August 1, September 5, and September 19. They have been working on the program for the weekend and are getting their sponsorships together. They have been working to recruit talent from schools for the stages. Scott Crawford said there will be more going on for kids this year. There will be artists up and down Ludlow. The sponsorship was already approved by CTM. Tom Dwyer asked how they will publicize the fest. Scott said they are advertising and will have a banner. Wordsworth will be handling the publicity. They will also try to have yard signs. Jan said they will have students from local schools doing sidewalk chalk before the fest. Malcom said he would like to see CTM support this but wanted to know if money is coming from capital. His concern is the money is getting spent away without much discussion. Tom said this is what was spent on Streetscapes last year. He said there should be more of a discussion on the amount of money being given to the event, that even though it's budgeted we don't have to spend it. Bruce proposed we budget the money for CliftonFest. Kevin seconded. Adam asked where money earned goes. Scott says towards the next years Cliftonfest. Bruce said he thinks it's a great community investment. After discussion Tom made a motion to postpone until next month. In a low revenue year he would like numbers on paper. The motion passed that we will give the money to CliftonFest. Scott and Jan said they will bring in more information on CliftonFest.

Proposed bike lane on Central Parkway

Melissa McVay with the city presented that they are looking at options to make Central Parkway to Ludlow Avenue more bike friendly. Handouts she brought shows different bike-lane options. To have a separated bike lane would be the ideal but it will come down to the trade-offs for the community. Some options would require losing a car lane.

DePaul Cristo Rey High School

President Sister Jeanne Bessette is operating a new high school in Clifton close to Camp Washington on Clifton Hills Ave. They are in their 2nd year of operation. They are renovating because they are growing and in need more space. They have purchased modular buildings from CPS. An architect is working with the school in an effort to minimize the impact on the hillside with the addition of the modular buildings, as well as to make the modular buildings more attractive. An audience member questioned the life of the building. The architect answered that they will be treated as, and have the life expectancy of permanent buildings. The President expressed concern of cars turning into their parking lot to turn around.

Empty IGA Building

Ben announced that he received an email that Reece Campbell says they will start roof demo May 7, weather permitting. Treasurer's Report – Tom Dwyer $2,800 has been collected from

CTM membership dues.

NSP $600

Mailings $559.97

$2,906 net income for the month.

$95,118 current balance

A motion was made to change the language on LLC

NSP was voted on to fund large flower pots and tree planting. The trees need to be planted between the sidewalk and street. It was determined that it is not viable they will go with the 3rd project instead, which is the insurance. This was voted on and passed.

A CTM golf outing was proposed by Tom. He feels it would be a good way to reach out into the community, and to use the money raised for audio/ visual equipment for the CRC. He would like help planning and will come back with a proposal. If possible he would like to have the event this fall.

The treasurer's report was approved.

Memorial Day Parade

Adam Balz asked those who would like to be involved stay after the meeting. He would like to have a few signs made with what CTM does to put up at Mt. Storm.

Nominating Committee

Motion to form nominating committee—Approved.

Apple Fest at Immanuel Presbyterian Church September 28

Bring your family for a fun filled afternoon at Immanuel Presbyterian Church (3445 Clifton Avenue), featuring our amazing homemade apple pies. Apple Fest is Saturday, September 28th from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Also featured are crafts for children, a variety of games, a bazaar full of handmade items, and an apple-inspired bake sale. You can enjoy hot dogs, chips, and a drink for 50 cents each. Stop by during CliftonFest – we will have two street artists creating works here!

Community Q&A

Concern was expressed that parking may not be available at CRC, due to construction, if meetings are held at CCAC.

Someone asked about the construction on Woolper Ave. Adam heard the road will be widened and will eliminate the grass by sidewalk for bike lane. An audience member said that trees were chopped on Ludlow because they were in the way of power lines. Malcolm said the utilities have the right to cut down trees. The audience member said it's a waste of money planting trees for them to be chopped.

Meeting adjourned 9:01 pm.

Cincinnati State grads notch 100 percent success rate on surgical tech exam

All of the graduates in Cincinnati State's Surgical Technology program in the class of 2013 passed the national certification examination on their first try.

Nationally, the average pass rate on the exam for the 2012-13 academic year is 68 percent.

"Needless to say, we're very proud of our graduates," said Wanda Dantzler, chair of Surgical Technology program at Cincinnati State. "This is the best performance by any of our graduating classes in the last five years."

The Accreditation Review Council on Education in Surgical Technology and Surgical Assisting (ARC/STSA) stipulates that accredited Surgical Technology programs must require all their graduates to take the examination. The ARC/STSA accreditation standards establish a minimum passage rate of 70 percent in order for a program to remain in compliance.

The 12 Cincinnati State students in the 2013 graduating class were tested on April 19, 2013.

Last year, for example, the Cincinnati State pass rate on the Surgical Tech exam was 86 percent, while the national rate was 65 percent. In the years previous to that, Cincinnati State's pass rate was between 88 percent and 93 percent.

Graduates of such programs are typically eligible for jobs in the surgical suites of hospitals and in the medical industry. Among the job titles associated with the field are surgical technologist, sterile processing supervisor, central service supervisor, surgical sales industry rep, and surgical sales consultant.

For more information, please contact Wanda Dantzler, Cincinnati State Surgical Technology program chair, at (513) 569-1673 or wanda.dantzler@ cincinnatistate.edu, or Bessie Pitts, Associate Dean in Cincinnati State's Division of Health and Public Safety, at (513) 569-1596 or bessie.pitts@cincinnatistate.edu .

Cincinnati State Expands Language Offerings By Robert White

Cincinnati State is adding German, Mandarin Chinese and Conversational French to its lineup of foreign language offerings beginning with the 2013 Fall Semester.

All three courses, along with the Spanish and the traditional French language sequences that the College has long offered, are open to members of the general public (enrolled as non-degree seeking students) as well as Cincinnati State students. The new courses were designed with business and vacation travelers in mind.

"We decided to expand our language offerings to appeal to individuals who plan to travel to Europe, China, Central and South America on business or for pleasure," said Robbin Hoopes, Dean of the Humanities and Sciences Division at Cincinnati State. The new courses are:

Conversational French (HUM 198-001). This is a 3 credit-hour class that will meet from 10 a.m. – 11:15 a.m. Monday and Wednesday. The instructor has requested French 101 as pre-requisite or previous conversational French experience.

German 1 (HUM 198-201). This is a 4 credit hour course, meeting from 6 p.m. – 7:50 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday. There is no prerequisite.

Mandarin 1 (HUM 198-202). This is a 4 credit hour course, meeting from 6 p.m. – 7:50 p.m. Monday and Wednesday. There is no prerequisite.

Cost for any of the courses is the college's standard $145.30 per semester credit hour. None will have a lab fee.

The language courses are part of a larger push by Cincinnati State to better publicize its Humanities and Sciences programs, which primarily serve students who intend to subsequently pursue a bachelor's degree. Many of the H&S courses carry an assurance that credits earned at Cincinnati State will transfer to any other public college or university in Ohio.

For Clifton residents who might be thinking about working on a degree at one of the terrific universities in the region, or who perhaps are already enrolled at one of them but have been closed out of a class they wanted, one of these courses (which carry the acronym TAG, for Transfer Assurance Guides) might be worthwhile. Credits from many other Cincinnati State courses also transfer, of course, but the TAG courses are part of a statewide system that's being developed through the Ohio Board of Regents.

Highway access continues to be a topic of considerable interest at Cincinnati State's Clifton campus. As Clifton residents know quite well, work is proceeding steadily on the reconstruction of the I-75/Hopple Street interchange. That project has led to the removal of a longstanding Cincinnati State landmark: the graceful pedestrian bridge across Central Parkway. It is also producing shifting traffic patterns in and around our campus.

Fall Semester starts August 26. That will bring a fresh influx of students to campus, along with fresh opportunities. We hope our Clifton neighbors will take advantage of what Cincinnati State has to offer—whether it's a foreign language course, a full-blown degree program or just a visit to Bakery Hill or the Summit Restaurant.

For information about these or any other offerings, please visit www. cincinnatistate.edu or join us at www. facebook.com/cincinnatistate. To learn more about enrolling at Cincinnati State, please visit www.cincinnatistate. edu/admission.

Victim of Change

The graceful pedestrian bridge that for four decades provided safe access across Central Parkway to the Cincinnati State campus fell victim in July to the I-75 Hopple Street improvement project. Much of the land between Central Parkway and I-75 near the Cincinnati State campus is being configured to make way for ramps leading to I-74 and eventually I-75.

Important Numbers

Neighborhood Police Liaison Lisa Johnson says she loves her neighborhhood because of all the leads she receives from residents that may ultimately prevent crime. Crime in Clifton is down by 13 percent, according to the officer.

As the season changes and the cool, crisp days of autumn ensue, students and teachers are heading back to school. When rounding up those supplies, don't forget the most valuable school supply of all ... a library card!

Students of all ages can find many resources for reading assignments and research projects at the public library. From classic literature to the latest award-winning novels and non-fiction books on every subject imaginable, the library has you covered.

Your library card also allows you to access a wealth of resources on our web page, including indexes to magazines with many full-text articles that you can enjoy from home, work or school. There are many "how to" tutorials on our DIY web page as well as career and computer skill enhancement resources. We offer homework help via self-paced modules and even live tutors on a wide array of subjects.

Not enough? If the Cincinnati public library does not have a particular book in its collection of millions of titles, you can use two new services to get books from public and academic libraries from all over our great buckeye state. OhioLink and SearchOhio are now available for free to cardholders.

Still not enough? Check out our growing collection of downloadable materials for your Kindle, Nook, iPad or other tablets or MP3 players. In addition to digital books, we also have downloadable music from Freegal and magazines that you can download from Zinio. And all this is FREE with your library card! And for teachers, the library offers Educator cards that give more flexibility to use books and other materials in the classroom to supplement the curriculum. We can also deliver collections of books that you choose, right to your school, for you and your students to use.

Check out our web site or stop in to the library for details as well as listings of all the fun programs and instructional classes we offer. We look forward to seeing you ... at the library!

Exhibition Opportunity

The 5th Street Gallery will feature works by Tiger Lily Press members October 11 - November 2, 2013

All members are welcome to submit one piece. The space is small so we are hoping to fit as many pieces as possible. If we have an overwhelming response, (We are up to 60 members now!! How great is that!) we will bring in someone from outside TLP to jury the best selection possible to represent Tiger Lily.

More details to follow, but keep in mind that work will likely be due to the studio the week of September 30.

Print Sale

Saturday, November 2 The 2013 Print Sale will be at the Clifton Cultural Arts Center again this year. All members are given the opportunity to sell their work at this show. A 20 percent commission is kept by TLP to help cover costs for the sale. Please take advantage of this great opportunity to make some money off of your wonderful work! There will be a large crowd. Prints that sell best are typically in the $35 -$65 range, but works have sold for as much as $350-$400. Start making work now! It can help pay for your holiday expenses!

Moksha Yoga Comes to Clifton

Moksha Yoga, famed for its 100-degree hot yoga class opened its third studio in the tri-state area on July 27, 2013, at 150 W. McMillan St. Featuring a "green" facility from floor to ceiling, the studio is excited to promote an environmentally-friendly yoga lifestyle, witness the growth of their company, and the spread of its mission in the Clifton and UC community.

"There are so many benefits of yoga, for the mind and body, and we're excited to spread those benefits in a more centralized location in Cincinnati," said Ellen Bradley, co-owner of the studio along with her husband Michael. "Being in the heart of the city allows us to reach more people."

The 75-person hot room studio is part of the newly constructed U-Square @ the Loop. U Square is a LEED certified multi-use mid-rise covering two city blocks between McMillan and Calhoun streets across from the University of Cincinnati's main campus. The owners of Moksha feel a partnership with the construction teams in their commitment to the environment. Moksha Yoga studios all feature anti-microbial cork floors, reclaimed wood for their front desk, and the continued use of eco-friendly cleaning products after each class.

"It's definitely not the easy way to build a studio," said Camilla Mecher, Co-Director of the Moksha studios, "but it's the right way, and we're very proud to be able to make our yoga practice even more accessible as we make our new home in Clifton."

Growing their studio in the "right way," was a goal for the owners from the beginning of their training as Moksha teachers and studio owners. As other studios pop up and die off quickly, the Bradleys have grown their company from one studio in Crescent Springs, KY in 2008, to three studios five years later. What started with a handful of students now boasts 1,900 students each week in the two original studios.

Fall Classes Available at Tiger Lily Press

Discover (or re-discover) the fun and fulfilling art of printmaking at Tiger Lily Press, a co-operative fine art printmaking studio currently located on the grounds of the Dunham Recreation Center, 4356 Dunham Lane, 45238. Chalkboard Fall 2013

Dance, art, drama, music and other enrichment opportunities abound for children ages 3-12 at The New School Montessori. The campus is expanding with the addition of the new Enrichment Center. Its Tudor-style architecture adds to the already homey atmosphere of the Victorian Mitchell Mansion, the Annex, and the Preprimary and Elementary Woods. Nestled among homes in North Avondale, The New School Montessori has served the neighborhoods of the Greater Cincinnati area for forty-three years.

Dance: Now there is more room to "stretch" as preprimary students practice yoga, ballet and modern dance with Montessori-credentialed teacher and Cincinnati Ballet instructor Jennifer Frank. Elementary children receive dance instruction from Jeanne Speier who studied under the famous dancer and choreographer, Katherine Dunham. New School students have learned dances from many cultures, performing the Balinese Monkey dance and intricate Indian hand gestures known as Mudras.

Art: Students create work they're excited about, like "yarn bombing" downtown Cincinnati with other city artists, and creating arcade games from cardboard. Teacher Robin Hartmann's experience making Muppets, designing for Kenner Toys, and creating costumes for SNL and Broadway productions has prepared her to challenge New School students with interesting projects. Children also have opportunities to work with local artist Sandy Gross from Brazee Street Studios who offers Glass Club after school.

Drama: Students' passion for drama is met by in-school and after-school opportunities. Shakespearean actor and Montessori-credentialed teacher, Jeff Groh works with students to present a different Shakespearean play each year. Another local actor Kate Wilford offers after-school clubs where children can perfect their comedy and improvisation skills. All ages participate in school plays, with preprimary children writing their own script, creating costumes and sets, working out choreography, and presenting their work.

The front of the building has remained relatively unchanged. Where all the construction is still happening is in the back where students will be entering from the elementary woods.

Music: Our elementary orchestra is led by NKU's former Strings Director who also offers private lessons in our after-school program. Recording artist, Andrea Rosenthal Warnken leads the children in Music Appreciation, Orff Instruments, Introduction to Winds, and in creating their own musical scores. The fine arts are an extremely important part of a New School Montessori education. In times when many schools are cutting programs, The New School Montessori is bringing new light and space to our high-quality arts programs.

Call (281-7999) for a private tour, or visit our website at www.newschoomontessori.com. We also encourage you to attend one of our Open Houses on October 20, January 26 and April 27 from 2 to 4 p.m.

Local Spa's Growth Leads to Second Cincinnati Location

On May 9, The Woodhouse Day Spa opened a second area location in the Kingsgate Marriott Conference Center at the University of Cincinnati, 151 Goodman Drive.

The spa is located on the third floor of the newly renovated hotel and open to the public seven days each week. Offiering more than 60 different treatments including massage, nail treatments, waxing, and facials, The Woodhouse Day Spa uses organic skin and body care products made from sustainable ingredients.

After multiple years of double-digit growth at his original spa in Olde Montgomery, owner Chris Mann decided it was time to expand, and the Clifton area was a natural choice.

"Our location within the Kingsgate Marriott is about three miles from the heart of downtown Cincinnati and just steps away from the University and hospitals," said Mann. "We are the only place providing a luxury spa experience in the area, and those who live and work nearby have been responding well. Guests are more relaxed, happier, healthier, and feel better after a visit to our spa."

The Woodhouse's unwavering commitment to each guest's experience, has earned the spa numerous "Best of Cincinnati" awards from CityBeat, including 2013's Best Spa, Best Mani/Pedi, Best Massage Therapists, and Best Skincare Center, and has been selected "Best of the City" by Cincinnati Magazine readers every year since 2009.

CCAC Utterly Astounded & Exceedingly Thankful

Five-Year Anniversary Finale Celebration September 7

Five years ago, equipped with a big dream and a dedicated community, Clifton Cultural Arts Center opened its doors. As our first season of classes began, our building was brimming with excited children taking ballet and seniors leading Tai Chi, a diverse array of accomplished and aspiring artists, and an ever-growing wealth of engaging events and activities.

Looking back on our first five years, we at CCAC find ourselves utterly astounded and exceedingly thankful for the support and enthusiasm of the Clifton and Cincinnati communities in helping us create "a bustling hive of artistic activity and personal expression where people of all ages and backgrounds, from all over Greater Cincinnati, will come and go from morning until evening." CCAC's Five Year Anniversary Celebration is a joyous commemoration of a com-

The Golden Ticket 2013

More than 300 works of art were submitted for this year's Golden Ticket exhibition at Clifton Cultural Arts Center (CCAC). The exhibition, now in its fourth year, is limited to artists working or living within 25 miles of CCAC and showcases our region's diverse creative talent. This year's prestigious jurors are:

Aaron Betsky – Director, Cincinnati Art Museum

Kate Bonansinga – Director of the School of Art at DAAP, University of Cincinnati

Kay Hurley – Nationally Known Landscape Artist

Sylvia Rombis – Owner, Malton Gallery

The opening reception is September 6 from 6 - 9 p.m. and the winners will be announced at 7 p.m. A full list of the participating artists can be found at http://www.cliftonculturalarts.org/golden-ticket.htm.

munity's working together toward the ambitious dream of a vibrant and dynamic community arts center.

Our first five years have given us many things to celebrate! We've expanded our community reach by partnering with organizations like Playhouse in the Park, Madcap Puppets, and Cincinnati Shakespeare Company to bring you a diverse variety of programming. Our Golden Ticket Art Exhibition has featured more than 200 artists from the Greater Cincinnati area. Your generous donations have allowed for building renovations, taking shape in the form of the 4-story elevator tower, a new groundfloor lobby, and a beautifully updated auditorium. They've also helped fund our spectacular programming, including Wednesdays on the Green, Second Sunday Family Showtime, and Sunset Salons.

Please join us for the finale to our Five Year Anniversary celebration on Saturday, September 7, from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Come see the unveiling of a new public art display by local artist, Sheri Besso. Sheri will transform our front green with 1,000 mylar, screen printed prayer flags, reflecting our hopes and dreams for the future. In the midst of fluttering flags, there will be a hands-on activity for kids and adults to make their own flags, a band, food trucks and a cupcake contest! See our website for details: www.cliftonculturalarts.org

Thank you once again for five years of encouragement, patronage, celebrations, and dreams. We look forward to many more years of working together to enrich and connect our community.

Sunset Salons Smart. Sassy. Sophisticated.

Clifton Cultural Arts Center is relaunching Sunsets at the Center as Sunset Salons, a mid-week dose of inspiration in the form of modern day salons. Five vibrant evenings at the crossroads of interesting people and fresh ideas—join us for animated conversations about matters that shape our lives: passion, food, creation, adventure, and frosty drinks. The doors open at 6:30 p.m. each evening for light bites and the panels start at 7:00 p.m. Tickets and season passes are available now through cliftonculturalarts.org

September 25 - Passion

"The two most important days in your life are the day you are born and the day you find out why." – Mark Twain

In 9 brief, brilliant talks, fascinating community members share stories of finding and living their passion. Come curious – leave inspired.

November 20 - Food

"One cannot think well, love well, sleep well, if one has not dined well." – Virginia Woolf

Our region's finest epicurean purveyors gather with the chefs who transform their goods into our city's most delicious meals. Appetites and curiosities will both be sated.

January 29 - Creation

"To invent, you need a good imagination and a pile of junk." – Thomas A. Edison

Cincinnati is booming. You can thank this panel, full of folks who are literally creating our future. Meet the makers and start-up accelerators behind 3D printing, functional design and publishing in the Queen City.

March 26 – Adventure

"Not all those who wander are lost." - J.R.R. Tolkien

On a night dedicated to adventures, what better guides than travelers and travel writers? We'll bring the stunning sites, funny stories and pragmatic advice – you bring the wanderlust.

May 21 - Breweries

"He was a wise man who invented beer." - Plato

You've sipped their suds – now hear their stories. In a refreshing close to the season, we'll toast the men and women behind Cincinnati's beer-brewing revolution.

Clifton Cultural Arts Center Director Departs for Seattle

The Clifton Cultural Arts Center (CCAC), an urban, regional arts center located in the heart of Clifton's gaslight neighborhood, is saddened to announce the departure, as of June 28, of Founding Executive Director, Ruth E. Dickey.

Dickey joined the organization as the first paid staff person in May 2008, and has led the organization through the successful execution of $1.7 million Phase One Renovations (which added an elevator, fire protection system and new accessible entrance), and through the establishment of robust programming that has engaged and inspired more than 76,000 people over the past five years. She is returning to Seattle, WA, where she will become the Executive Director of Seattle Arts & Lectures (www.lectures.org).

Dickey says, "It has been an absolutely tremendous honor to have the privilege of partnering with the CCAC Board, staff, volunteers, partners, funders and the Cincinnati community these past five years to launch this bold and ambitious undertaking. From Floodwall to The Golden Ticket, from Wednesdays on the Green to Second Sunday Family Showtime, from Sunsets at the Center to a whole host of classes, my experiences here at CCAC have inspired me and taught me about the value of community, and the outrageously fantastic things that ordinary people can do when they come together."

CCAC's Board President, Cynthia Herrick, will serve as the interim Executive Director while the organization conducts a search for the next leader. Herrick says, "We have been incredibly fortunate to have Ruth's leadership during our first five years serving the public, and the Board and I are grateful for the skills, talents and personality that she has brought to CCAC. Our organization is strong and vibrant, and we are looking forward to finding our next Executive Director and to continuing our renovation of the Clifton School building and our important work with the community. We remain grateful for the CCAC staff, partners, funders, volunteers and many individuals who have, and will continue, to make our work possible, and we look forward to keeping the community involved and informed as we move forward."

H2P Consortium, Health Careers Collaborative Gains National Recognition

The Health Professions Pathways (H2P) Consortium and the Health Careers Collaborative, which gave rise to the H2P, received national recognition this summer.

Cincinnati State plays a key role in both enterprises.

The H2P Consortium was featured during an "Americas" session of the Clinton Global Initiative June 13-14 in Chicago. President Clinton established the Clinton Global Initiative in 2005 "to promote solutions to challenges around the world," according to its website. Dr. Marianne Krismer, the executive director of the H2P consortium, was invited to attend the June meeting to discuss what is being described as an example of a best practice in "Career Pathway Implementation with Employer Support."

The H2P Consortium consists of nine community colleges, led by Cincinnati State. It was founded in 2011 through a $19.6 million U.S. Labor Department grant. The consortium operates across five states, and focuses on preparation for careers in the healthcare industry. It is particularly designed for displaced workers, veterans and low skilled individuals.

The model used by the H2P Consortium was largely developed by the Health Careers Collaborative of Greater Cincinnati, which was founded in 2003. Among the strategies incorporated into their approaches:

• Employers form partnerships with educational institutions and workforce training organizations, to assure that the education process is purposefully integrated with job requirements.

· Participants receive career assessment services.

• In addition to giving participants credit for prior learning, the programs typically feature a competency-based core curriculum that integrates "stackable" credentials which lead to certificates and degrees.

• Participants have access to life skills training, if necessary, as well as "wrap around" advising that is designed to help them land jobs in the healthcare industry or advance in their careers if they already hold jobs.

"The Health Professions Pathways colleges are implementing new pathway models in ways that reflect the individual nuances within their regional communities," Dr. Krismer said. "There are, however, common themes and practices that are being evaluated. We are now planning a strategy for national dissemination that includes open source licensing of our courses and curriculum."

Following the presentation at the Clinton Global Initiative, Dr. Krismer traveled to Washington, D.C. on behalf of the Health Careers Collaborative of Greater Cincinnati to accept an award presented by the National Journal. After a national search, the publication selected the Health Careers Collaborative as one of the "50 Problem Solvers Washington Can Learn From."The honorees were profiled in the June 15 special issue of the National Journal and were honored at a day-long forum June 19.

Women's Surgeon Receives Mentor of the Year Award

Steven D. Kleeman, MD, of Monfort Heights is the 2013 recipient of the Mentor of the Year Award from the 55,000-member American Congress of Obstetricians and Gynecologists (ACOG).

The award honors his excellence in teaching urogynecology to physicians in training. Hundreds of obstetricians and gynecologists in the states of Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan and Ontario, Canada selected him for the award.

A subspecialty within the fields of obstetrics and gynecology and urology, urogynecologists are surgeons who treat women with pelvic floor disorders, urinary incontinence and bladder pain.

Kleeman is director of the urogynecology division at Good Samaritan Hospital and partner with Drs. Rachel Pauls and Catrina Crisp with Tri-Health physician partner Cincinnati Urogynecology Associates (CUA), TriHealth's Division of Urogynecology and Pelvic Reconstructive Surgery. Kleeman is a surgeon and an expert in women's pelvic disorders.

The practice has offices at Good Samaritan Hospital in Clifton; West Chester; and TriHealth Bethesda Arrow Springs in Lebanon.

Kleeman was recognized in 2012 as one of the nation's "Top Ten" busiest surgeons performing robotic surgery for vaginal prolapse. He travels to countries like Haiti and Honduras each year to perform humanitarian gynecologic and general surgeries on underserved women through Light of the World Charities of Palm City, Florida.

"Dr. Kleeman is a great mentor due to his strength of character," said Dr. Susan Oakley, a current Fellow and instructor at the Women's Center for Specialized Care. "He has published papers, lectured residents and taught innumerable students the finer points of clinical acumen and surgical skill, but it's his dedication to family, spiritual foundation and effortless ability to lead by example that makes him a timeless mentor. On top of all this, his commitment to serving others through his volunteer efforts at home and abroad - with complete humility – make him someone for all to emulate."

A native Cincinnatian, Kleeman attended St. Xavier High School, earned his bachelor's degree in biology at Wright State University and then doctor of medicine degree at the University of Cincinnati College of Medicine.

Cincinnati Urogynecology Associates specializes in patient care, education of Fellows, research and philanthropy. For more information or an appointment, call (513) 463-4300 or visit www.CincinnatiUrogynecology.com.

Pauls Named Associate Editor for Journal of Sexual Medicine

Dr. Rachel Pauls, a Cincinnati urogynecologist and international expert on women's sexual dysfunction and pain, has been named associate editor of the Journal of Sexual Medicine.

The Journal of Sexual Medicine is a leading peer-reviewed medical journal published on behalf of the International Society for Sexual Medicine. It's also an official journal for the International Society for the Study of Women's Sexual Health. Articles include scientific and clinical research studies on the psychological and biological aspects of male and female sexual function and dysfunction. The journal has the highest impact factor in its field.

Pauls, of Sycamore Township, is a partner with Drs. Steven D. Kleeman and Catrina Crisp with TriHealth physician partner Cincinnati Urogynecology Associates (CUA), TriHealth's Division of Urogynecology and Pelvic Reconstructive Surgery.

Her research focuses on pelvic floor disorders and female sexual function, and the impact of urogynecologic surgeries on sexuality. A Fellow of the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, and the Royal College of Surgeons in Canada, she and co-researchers at CUA presented 29 research studies in 2012-2013; have had 11 study publications in 2013; and have received three national awards for work with international and national women's health organizations.

As director of research for the Division of Urogynecology at TriHealth, Pauls is mentor for more than 30 original research studies. She was a recipient of the ACOG Mentor of the Year and the West Chester Woman of Excellence awards for 2012.

CUA has offices at Good Samaritan Hospital in Clifton; West Chester; and TriHealth Bethesda Arrow Springs in Lebanon.

A subspecialty within the fields of obstetrics and gynecology and urology, urogynecologists are surgeons who treat women with pelvic floor disorders, urinary incontinence and bladder pain.

In addition to her practice and teaching roles for TriHealth's Obstetrics and Gynecology.Residency and Fellowship Programs, Pauls is co-director of the Women's Center for Specialized Care at Good Samaritan Hospital. She is a consultant for corporations involved in interventions for pelvic organ prolapse and sexual function, and volunteers for several national organizations, including the American Urogynecologic Society's Education Committee.

Cincinnati Urogynecology Associates specializes in patient care, education of Fellows, research and philanthropy. For more information or an appointment, call (513) 463-4300 or visit www.CincinnatiUrogynecology. com.

A 20/20 Update

Kathleen Norris has been retained by Clifton 20/20, CBPA, CTM and the Uptown Consortium to develop and implement a vision and a plan for a vibrant business district along Ludlow Avenue. Under her direction, Urban Fast Forward (UFF) is the urban revitalization consultant group to help carry out that vision.

The process of neighborhood revitalization includes a firm understanding of existing conditions, future plans and neighborhood stakeholder sentiments. Taking the first step in that plan, UFF set out to identify the current mix of businesses in the district and understand the character of the neighborhood and how the business district either accurately reflects or misrepresents that character. Through that work, UFF has identified some of the dominant concerns that neighborhood stakeholders have about the business district, including:

- Lack of parking
- Tenant mix
- Run down/uncared for appearance
- Grocery store

While recommendations are still being developed, work has begun on identifying ways to address each of these problems. These can be sorted into long-term and short-term, large and smal scale. This process includes: • Landing a grocery store—collaborating with community and Steve Goessling to find a lasting solution • Meeting Clifton's parking needs identifying existing resources and working toward long-term solutions • Sprucing up and putting out a welcome mat—by strengthening visual quality of business districtCreating events to bring in shoppers—with impactful but simple-to-do incentives

• Branding the business district

Hatton Foundation's Scholarship Gift Supports DePaul Cristo Rey's Educational Mission

The Hatton Foundation has awarded a $15,000 grant to DePaul Cristo Rey High School to support scholarships for students. In awarding this grant Executive Director Walter Lunsford noted, "The Hatton Foundation is very pleased to support DePaul Cristo Rey's excellent work to meet the educational needs of economically at-risk youth and provide them with a sense of dignity and purpose through the development of good work habits." The Hatton Foundation is an independent grant-making foundation created in 1997 upon the death of E. Kenneth Hatton, M.D., and his wife, Esther Marie. Dr. Hatton served on the staff of Good Samaritan Hospital for over 40 years and was a general practitioner with an office in Bond Hill. The Foundation supports projects in the eight-county Greater Cincinnati/Northern Kentucky area.

The Farmer Family Fund of The Greater Cincinnati Foundation has awarded a $100,000 grant to DePaul Cristo Rey High School to support scholarships for students.

Rey of Light Scholarship Benefit Is A Brilliant Success

Thanks to the generosity of sponsors and guests, and the hard work of a dedicated group of volunteers, DePaul Cristo Rey's inaugural Rey of Light Scholarship Benefit for Students was a brilliant success. This gala evening was held on April 27 at DPCR and included dinner, silent and oral auctions, and a paddle raise for scholarships. Organizers hoped to raise $100,000 for the scholarship fund and are pleased to report that the event has raised more than three times that – $349,000!

Rey of Light was presented by the Sisters of Charity of Cincinnati, the SC Ministry Foundation and Susie & John Lame/Lenox Wealth Management. Community leaders Sister Joan Elizabeth Cook, SC, president of the Sisters of Charity of Cincinnati, and Rev. Eric Knapp, SJ, pastor of St. Xavier Church in downtown Cincinnati, served as honorary co-chairs.

Sponsored by the Sisters of Charity of Cincinnati, DePaul Cristo Rey is one of 25 schools in the national Cristo Rey Network which serves 7,400 urban young people who live in communities with limited education options. Most of the students qualify for the Federal Free or Reduced Lunch Program. All DPCR students participate in the Corporate Work Study Program (CWSP) to help finance a portion of their education costs. However as a new school, which serves only those families who can't afford other private, college-preparatory schools, the cost to educate students far outweighs their CWSP earnings. Rey of Light supports the scholarships that enable students from economically challenged families to afford this nationally recognized dual-focus educational program offered at DPCR and not available at any other local high school.

Clifton UMC to Host Multiple Events During CliftonFest

Clifton United Methodist Church is excited to host events on Sunday, September 29 for participants in 2013 CliftonFest.

The congregation has been part of the Clifton community since 1831. Support of the neighborhood, appreciation of the arts, inclusion and commitment to justice have always been priorities. Activities on September 29 reflect the same. Please join the activities, conversations and celebrations!

From 9-9:45 that Sunday morning, Clifton UMC will Bless Pets of all kinds at the church (3416 Clifton Ave.) shortly before the CliftonFest Pet Parade. A reception for animals and companions will follow with treats for ALL!

After morning worship at 10:30, the church will have an open house, featuring music, art and architecture – including a docent-led exploration of the historic Lafarge stained-glass windows.

Finally, Elyzabeth Holford from Equality Ohio, our state's largest LGBTQ advocacy organization, will be a featured speaker in the afternoon at 2. She will discuss current efforts to reduce bullying in educational environments, to pass legislation for non-discrimination in the workplace, and to plan for marriage equality to become the law of the land in Ohio.

While official times may change, more information will be available at the church website (cliftonumc.com) or by calling the church office (961-2998). The building is located at 3416 Clifton Ave. Don't be a stranger! ALL are truly welcomed here!
