Many audience members and board members discussed issues of understaffed police, possible police details on Ludlow for certain times, the Hookah Cafe's landlord taking action, shutting down parking on Ludlow after certain hours, a theoretical noise monitoring system, and premises liability.

DePaul Cristo Rey Update from Principal - Siobham Taylor

Siobham is the current president and CEO of DePaul Cristo Ray High School. Formed in 2011, the high school provides a quality education to students who need more resources. They are a part of a larger network of private catholic schools that aim to provide college preparatory education including providing students with employment during their enrollment. They enroll more than 300 students each year, 92% of which become first generation college students.

DePaul Cristo Rey also supports students and their families through college and ensures students complete their degrees. College graduation rates of alumni are double the national average of their demographics.

Q: Have you had any difficulties with your hispanic students due to what is happening in Washington and kids disappearing?

A: No students have disappeared, however families are feeling the pressure of the political climate. Families have been choosing to move back to their home countries. One student had to leave due to this.

Q: If a business chooses to sponsor a student through DePaul Cristo Rey, what would that look like?

A: Each class is out to work one day of the week. Programs begin after labor day through the first week of May. DePaul Cristo Ray takes care of transportation, lunch, etc.

Q: What kind of volunteer opportunities are there?

A: The easiest way to volunteer is to reach out to Siobham. Opportunities include tutoring, profession-related guest speakers, day to day operational assistance, fundraising, and anything else volunteers could contribute.

Q: What percentage of students graduate high school, and would DePaul consider sponsoring trade-school educations?

A: 100% of students graduate high school and get accepted to college. ~80% or more choose to enroll. Due to the mission of the parent organization, DePaul Cristo Rey sadly cannot provide equivalent services for trade school educations.

Q: How much support does DePaul Cristo Rey guarantee students through college?

A: DePaul Cristo Rey ensures students do not pay more than $2,000 - $5,000 out of pocket by seeking out scholarships.

Q: Where does most of the funding for DePaul Cristo Rey come from?

A: ~30% of revenue comes from Edchoice scholarships, ~20% comes from the work study program, and the other half is fundraised.

Siobham ended by saying that she believes that the talented students and workers from DePaul Cristo Rey would make waves in Cincinnati's businesses and non-profits, eventually giving back to Cincinnati and building our city's culture.

Clifton Plan Update - Gerald Checco

Gerald explained the Clifton Plan was making good progress with each subcommittee meeting finalizing certain aspects of the plan. A report will be published in the Fall Chronicle

Motion 4 Letter to DOTE - Justin Ogilby

Ben presented a letter to be sent to DOTE by Justin. Justin explained that the transportation committee had been collecting safety issues and organizing them by street and intersection. The in-progress safety report is attached to the minutes. The transportation committee aims to send the list and asks them to identify solutions.

Motions 4a and 4b are both attached at the end of the minutes. Motion 4a is to allow Justin to send the letter, contained in motion 4b, after revising it. Gerald motioned to give Justin the ability to finish the letter and send it as described in motion 4a. Jan seconded the motion. The motion passed unanimously.

Motion 5 Finance Committee Standing Rule - Gerald Checco

Motion 5 is a standing rule aiming to formalize the structure and outline the responsibilities of the CTM financial committee. The motion language is included in the minutes. Gerald made the motion, Bridget seconded the motion. It was approved unanimously.

Burnet Woods eColi Update from MSD - Diana Christy and Scott Bessler

Diana and Scott from MSD came to address concerns about water quality in Burnet Woods. The presentation included information of the watershed of Burnet woods and logistics of combined sewer overflows. Park infrastructure and MSD sewers both present in Burnet woods, a sensor has been set up where overflows occur in the park.

A team at UC published findings of alarming levels of e. coli in standing water in the park. The tested water was puddled ground water rather than a larger body of water, MSD does not have a standard for that case. MSD recently inspected their infrastructure and does not have evidence of any issues. The timeline for a solution is long due to the complexity of the infrastructure and numerous other pressing issues. MSD is working with the research team and the US EPA to further research the issue, identify risks, and come up with possible solutions in the near term.

Q: Is the storm water coming from Burnet woods and UC?

A: Yes, stormwater is conveyed from both Burnet Woods and areas around UC. Stormwater detention can be a challenge with large watersheds.

Q: Is the watershed only coming from UC north into the park, or from all around the park?

A: The full watershed is drawn on the first slide of the presentation, and the elevation dictates watersheds. It is mainly coming from UC north into the park. Northern areas of the park flow out to other areas.

Most stormwater infrastructure is not MSD. City of Cincinnati's SMU, UC, and private property owners all own infrastructure that flows into MSD sewers.

Q: Why do recreational water standards not apply to Burnet Woods lake/ground water?

A: UC samples were taken from ground water, people are warned to not recreate in flood waters. If similar e. coli levels were found in the lake it would be cause for concern, though Burnet Woods lake is not yet considered a recreational body of water.

Q: Reports of smells have been dated back to 1950's, plans to address sewer overflows seem to keep getting delayed. When will this be addressed?

A: Water treatment as we know it started in 70's with Clean Water Act. City was non-compliant in the 2000s. Combined sewer infrastructure in older cities like Cincinnati lend themselves to overflows, all of which are large issues with long timelines.

Citizen advocacy, like what has happened with researchers at UC and citizen concerns, helps move health risks up in priority. MSD appreciates the work that has been done and is looking into designing possible solutions.

Q: Are there other known overflows in parks? They would be good places to observe the human aspect of overflows.

A: Mt Airy floods often, other parks should be checked.

Q: Burnet Woods has high residential density and rare greenspace. Does population get taken into consideration when determining issue priority?

A: The Burnet Woods overflow was not a numbered overflow point in the initial prioritization. Given the capital plan, it is hard to move it up in priority.

An audience member suggested a turbidity sanitation chamber or daylighting the stream. Noted that most solutions would be expensive for Burnet Woods' small watershed. MSD agreed many small solutions could be implemented and they are looking into them. Another audience member asked why parks was not here, and encouraged this conversation to continue at a larger forum with all stakeholders.

Conversations continued further discussing solutions and timelines. MSD is aiming to come back to CTM, CUFNA, and Corryville CC to discuss findings.

Community Concerns - Ben Pantoja

A resident brought up concerns about an unkept property on McAlpin that had been empty for years. Neighbors began to upkeep it, however there is still a large construction fence and concrete. Gerald exchanged contact information to work on the beautification of the lot and a resolution to the issue.

Adjournment - Next CTM Board Meeting 8/4.

The meeting was adjourned on-time at 8:56.

Motion to adjourn called by Jan, seconded by Owen, and was unanimously approved (U).

Respectfully submitted,
Owen Waller, Secretary

Motion 1:

During the June 2025 meeting of CTM, a motion was approved to adjust the budget for the Off Ludlow Gallery by adding an expense line item for "Social Media" with an initial setup cost of $400 to support the Gallery's operations. The new motion proposes an additional $400 for ongoing expenses to manage this system.

Motion 2:

The Off Ludlow Gallery (OLG) is a project of CTM. Exhibitions are held several times a year, including curated shows, solo shows, and a holiday boutique. Typically, 70% of art sales go to the artists, while 30% covers gallery expenses. The June 2025 curated show is a non-traditional event titled "Art in Action," which pairs each artist with a non-profit organization. The non-profit organizations benefiting from the show include:

- Ensemble Theater
- Pals for pALS
- Greyhound Adoption
- Ensemble Theater
- Artsville
- La Soupe
- Women100
- OAR Cat Rescue
- Prokids
- Sew Valley
- RAPTOR
- Mill Creek Alliance
- Lighthouse Youth and Family Services
- HER Cincinnati

The revenue from the show will be distributed as follows: 45% will be allocated to the artist, 40% will be directed to the non-profit organization, and 15% will cover the gallery's expenses.

This motion is to

- a- approve the list of beneficiaries,
- b- approve the sharing of percentages for this show only, and
- c- authorize the treasurer to create a line item to pay for these expenses.

Dear Mel,

We are writing to express our interest in working collaboratively with your department to improve safety on the streets within our community.

The residents of Clifton feel that walkability is one of the great benefits and assets of our community. Recently, unsafe driving behavior has tarnished that benefit and walking in some areas has become challenging and even dangerous. We would love to work with you to ensure that our streets are safe, accessible, and welcoming to all users—pedestrians, cyclists, transit riders, and drivers alike.

To that end, we have compiled a list of specific locations within our neighborhood where community members have raised concerns about traffic safety. Along with these locations, we are including some preliminary ideas for potential solutions—some of which may be low-cost and could hopefully be implemented in a relatively short timeframe.

Our goal is to engage DOTE as a partner in identifying some of these problems that could be solved rapidly with low-cost interventions. We recognize that your department is time and resource constrained, and we believe that, by working together and being flexible and creative, we can make meaningful progress toward safer streets in Clifton.

We would appreciate the opportunity to review the attached list and begin a conversation about next steps. We are committed to being an active and constructive partner in this process, and we look forward to collaborating with you in service of our shared goal: a safer, more livable Cincinnati.

Thank you for your time and your continued service to our city.

Sincerely,

Justin Ogilby, Transportation Chair
